

WILSON'S WORK PRAISED BY MEMBER OF G. I. P.

L. K. Passmore, of Philadelphia, Heartily Indorses Policies of the President

Heartly endorsement of President Wilson and his administration was expressed here Thursday by L. K. Passmore, of Philadelphia, who in his capacity of first vice president of the Penn Mutual life insurance company, is touring the south and will spend two days in Atlanta before going for a short vacation at Bellair Heights on the Gulf coast of Florida.

Mr. Passmore and his wife are at the Georgian Terrace. Thursday afternoon Mr. Passmore, with Hugo M. Willet, of Bagley & Willet, local agents of the Penn Mutual, will be guests of the Ten club. Friday Mr. Passmore will be the guest of honor at a luncheon in the convention of Georgia Penn Mutual agents at the Piedmont hotel.

Mr. Passmore, while a strong Republican, had nothing but praise for the new Democratic administration and the work accomplished in tariff and money reform.

"In my trip over the south," he says, "I have found the new tariff has had an equalizing and most beneficial effect everywhere. In Louisiana several cane planters complained that they were hurt by it, but these men, who are worth five millions or more, should have had that much money in the first place. The tariff is for the good of the public."

CARRIED OUT PROHIBITION.

Mr. Wilson has but cut out the penalties in downward revision of the tariff which both sides have been fighting for years but which neither side has been in the short run. He has been in the office for more for the public good than any president we have ever had. His attitude toward his business is that of a man who is not willing to meet him fairly and equally and if he will just let his business be in the same way. He has given his business a good dose of salt and if he will just let his business be in the same way, he will give us a chance for a little work, and his prosperity will be universal and ended.

Instead of sitting down and twiddling our thumbs around the world, if we don't like, we should all turn in with a will and help the president as we can in the good work he is doing."

Boxing Postoffice Messengers May Break Into White Hope Class Soon

POSTOFFICE "BOXING CLASS"

Uncle Sam's Messenger Boys Find New Amusement for Waits Between Calls

If one passes along Prairie street back of the post office any bright morning these days, he will be attracted by a crowd of interested spectators gathered around a ring in the rear of the government building and will hear shouts of "That's the stunt! Uppercut 'im! Uppercut 'im! Aw, why don't you fight there!"

scrap is going on, but simply that Uncle Sam's messenger boys are filling in a spare moment between calls with the boxing gloves.

It isn't a part of Uncle Sam's regulations for training messengers exactly, but any gray-clad youth in the bunch will tell you that it is good business to be prepared with the date when he is in charge of Uncle Sam's important special delivery packages.

One of their number brought a pair of five-ounce gloves to work the other day and since then daily boxing bouts have been inaugurated, much to the entertainment of a score of post office employees and pedestrians and to the increased physical prowess of a half a dozen bicycle youngsters.

Every messenger boy at the post office has learned how to use his fists effectively since the boxing started and their champion declares he is ready to meet all comers that make his weight.

"WAKE UP COMMITTEES," SAYS MAYOR WOODWARD

Will Ask Departmental Committees of Council to Plow Some Unplowed Fields

That the departmental committees of council—such as schools, parks, waterworks, libraries, etc.—could find a lot of unplowed fields if they would take a look around, instead of being content as dead letter committees with only their chairmen amounting to anything, is the substance of a special communication which Mayor Woodward is preparing to send to council.

It will not be in the nature of a criticism, because he appreciates the fact that these committees are simply following a long standing custom when they do nothing. His communication will be a friendly suggestion that they rouse up and exercise some of the authority which is theirs for the taking. The police, health, hospital, school, library, waterworks and park departments of the city government each have a board consisting of ten regular members with the mayor and the chairman of the corresponding council committee as members ex-officio.

These committees rarely meet. Their respective chairmen sit on their respective boards, keep council informed as to the needs of the respective departments, and the committees go along with nothing special to do. Such has been the custom. But the other day the school committee, of which Alderman Jesse Armitage is a new member of council, is chairman, took a notion to make a survey of the school houses of the city, and already the committee is being heard from.

Mayor Woodward wants the departmental committees to "wake up" he says, and do the same. He wants the police committee, in addition to passing on applications for beer and pool room licenses, to find out something about the police department; the health committee to find out something about the health department; the waterworks committee to find out something about the water department; and the other committees to do all the finding out.

SHIPPING CONTROVERSY REACHES DEADLOCK
Many Phases of Transatlantic Pool Discussed by Members of Companies.

BERLIN, March 20.—There are several versions of the proceedings of representatives of the shipping companies who are endeavoring to reach a settlement with reference to the transatlantic shipping pool. One version is that substantial progress has been made on all points, including the Canadian tariff, the Mediterranean adjustment and first-class regulations. Another version seems to indicate that the controversy on quotas is no near settlement, and that the representatives virtually have reached a deadlock and sudden adjournment is probable.

British representatives abandoned hope of settlement and declared they would take no further interest in the proceedings as all claims for increased quotas are being stoutly adhered to, but continued representatives persuaded them to continue to participate themselves into an unofficial committee for the purpose of finding, if possible, a compromise whereby they might save the general pool.

One proposal is that the emperor be requested to arbitrate, but it is not expected that this will receive much support. The speaker, however, is taking keen interest in the conference and is receiving daily reports.

WEST POINT PYTHIANS TO BUILD $6,000 HOME

WEST POINT, Fla., March 20.—West Point Knights of Pythias contemplate the erection of a handsome home which will include a gymnasium, reading room, dining hall and lodge room. The estimated cost of the building is six thousand dollars. The new organization will also embrace the members of the Athletic club.

Seventy members of Ivanhoe lodge No. 21, have already agreed to pay $50 each into the building, and the lodge has about $1,000 in the treasury.

Small Boy Scared To Death by Bark Of Strange Canine

Percy Richards Goes Into Convulsions and Dies When Big Dog Rushes in Yard

A three-year-old boy was literally scared to death Thursday afternoon by a big dog that ran into his front yard while the little fellow was playing there with a neighbor's child. Frightened by the dog, the little boy went into convulsions, dying fifteen minutes later.

He was Percy Richards, son of Mr. W. H. Richards, of 123 Garden street. According to members of the family, the little boy, like many small children, had "always been very much afraid of dogs."

About 3 o'clock his mother allowed him to go into the front yard. Percy and another boy were playing there when a strange dog ran barking through the gate. According to neighbors, the dog did not even touch Percy, but the sudden appearance of the animal threw him into hysteria and then into a deep coma.

Neighbors rushed to the scene and Percy was carried to the front porch. Before a doctor could be summoned, he died, despite the fact that several first-aid methods were used in an attempt to save his life.

The body was removed to Burkert-Simmons' chapel and will be sent to Norwood, Ga., Saturday morning for funeral and interment.

PROGRESSIVES IN HOUSE AGAINST TOLL EXEMPTION

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Representative Victor M. Schwaner, of Kansas, leader of the Progressives in the house, in a statement issued today, announced that the Progressives in congress are substantially a unit against President Wilson's plan of repealing the exemption of coastwise shipping from Panama canal tolls.

One proposal is that the emperor be requested to arbitrate, but it is not expected that this will receive much support. The speaker, however, is taking keen interest in the conference and is receiving daily reports.

JUDGE RAWLINGS ENTERS RACE FOR CONGRESSMAN

Willis Evans Is Expected to Become Candidate Next Week

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
SANDERSVILLE, Ga., March 20.—Judge Ben T. Rawlings has announced his candidacy for congressman from the tenth district. Mr. Rawlings, who has been judge of the middle circuit for the past twelve years, has represented this country in the legislature and has held the offices of tax collector and mayor and for eight years was solicitor general of this circuit.

It is expected that Willis Evans of this place, will announce for congress next week.

Messrs. Harris and Taylor are running to succeed themselves as representatives. The county primary will be held Thursday. There are seven offices to be filled. State candidates are running.

Voters of Montgomery Oppose Truettlen County
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MT. VERNON, Ga., March 20.—The primary election for county officers was held in Montgomery county on the 18th inst. and resulted as follows:

For clerk, superior court, George R. Tyler, for sheriff, James Heister, for tax collector, H. D. Davis; for treasurer, John H. Morris; for county attorney, Archie Gillis; for county surveyor, E. B. Morris; and for coroner, E. L. Hammond.

The Democratic party of the county instructed its executive committee to provide for a vote on the question whether or not the people wished the proposed new county of Truettlen and adjoining while officers were being voted for the elections were given an opportunity to vote also on this question. The result was a decided victory against the new county movement.

Madison County Voters to Name Officers on May 14
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DANIELSVILLE, Ga., March 20.—The Democratic executive committee of Madison county has ordered that a primary election, for the nomination of county officers, state senate and representative, be held on the 14th day of May.

J. N. R. Thompson is the only candidate so far for representative, and it is generally conceded that he will make the senator, and it is thought that he will make the race without an opponent.

There are four candidates in the race for sheriff, W. M. Davis, the present incumbent; J. M. Patton, J. Styles Evans and G. Luther Williams.

Many Candidates Out for Houston County Officers
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

PEBBLY, Ga., March 20.—The date for the Democratic primary for Houston county has not yet been fixed. The executive committee, of which J. P. Dunlap is chairman, and R. E. Holladay is secretary, will meet the first Monday in April and fix the date and rules.

Politics are warming up and candidates are numerous. A great deal of interest is centered on the sheriff's race. There are four candidates, John L. Thompson, T. S. Chapman, W. E. Murray and G. W. Williams, the present incumbent. There are also two announcements for state senator, J. W. Bloodworth, of Perry and Virgil Phelan, of Port Valley. The present clerk of the superior court, C. R. Hardison, is opposed by Judge L. R. Woodward, who formerly held this office.

Dunahoo Again in Race for Floyd County Sheriff
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., March 20.—W. G. Dunahoo, sheriff of Floyd county, has announced his candidacy for reelection. He is opposed by J. E. Harman, one of his deputies, and the race promises to be a close one. Other heated campaigns are in progress for the offices of tax collector and tax collector. John M. Andover, tax collector, is opposed by Leonard G. Todd, and J. Tom Jenkins, tax receiver, by Zack Salmon and T. B. Hendricks.

Hardwick to Open His Campaign in Savannah
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 20.—Congressman Hardwick will make his first campaign in Georgia since he has announced his candidacy for the United States senate in Savannah. He is to come here on the night of April 15 for the purpose of responding to a toast at the annual banquet of the Cracker Progressive club. It is expected that his speech will be largely political.

J. Gordon Jones to Enter Attorney General Race
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CORDELE, Ga., March 20.—The announcement of J. Gordon Jones, member of the local law firm of Crum & Jones, and one of the most prominent lawyers in this section, for the office of attorney general of the state is expected in a few days.

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP OF FIGS"
Made from fruit—Can't harm tender stomach, liver and bowels

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, nervous, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children need not be scared to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!—(Adv.)

TECH STUDENTS SAVE SICK MAN FROM BURNING HOUSE

These two Tech students discovered the fire that destroyed the home of W. M. Camp, superintendent of the Atlanta division of the Pullman company, Thursday afternoon, and together carried Mr. Camp, who was bedridden from an abscessed foot, from his bed to safety. Lucas was quarterback on the Tech football last year.

THOMAS COOPER DE LEON DIES AT MOBILE HOME

MOBILE, Ala., March 20.—Thomas Cooper de Leon, author of many successful novels, the most popular of which were Civil War stories, died here today at the age of 76 years.

Although afflicted with blindness during the closing years of his life, the author was a successful writer to the time of his death. He was an associate editor of the Mobile Register at the time it was edited by Colonel W. B. Mann, now of New York, and had been connected with numerous other publications.

He was unmarried and his only known relative is a niece living in Baltimore. He has a summer home in Seawane, Tenn.

WANTS $2,500,000 ESTATE DISTRIBUTED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Mrs. Helen Berry Graydon Wheeler, daughter of the late Ford Parker Whitney, California millionaire, filed yesterday in the superior court a petition for the absolute distribution of her father's estate, the California portion of which is valued at more than $2,500,000.

She asks that one-half be given to her mother and one-fourth to herself and two brothers in lieu of certain trust features.

Mrs. Wheeler is the wife of Joseph Columbus Wheeler, Jr., of Fort Thomas, Ky. Her first husband was Robert Graydon, Harvard football player, who married in New York in 1890 and divorced in 1905.

MAY DIVIDE INDIANS INTO TWO CLASSES

WASHINGTON, March 20.—All the Indians in the United States must be divided into two classes, separate rolls of "competent Indians" and "non-competent Indians," under a bill introduced today by Representative Knopok, of Wisconsin. The measure would leave the classification to a commission of ten persons, including two of Indian blood.

Buy as many as the whole season will demand.

INDIGESTION ENDED, STOMACH FEELS FINE

"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sour, gassy, upset stomachs in five minutes

Sour, gassy, upset stomach, indigestion, heartburn, dyspepsia, when the food you eat ferments into gases and stubborn lump; your head aches and you feel sick and miserable, that's when you realize the magic in Pape's Diapepsin. It makes all stomach misery vanish in five minutes.

If your stomach is in a continuous revolt—if you can't get it regulated, please, for your sake, try Pape's Diapepsin. It's so needless to have a bad stomach—make your next meal a favorite food meal, then take a little Diapepsin. There will not be any distress—eat without fear. It's because Pape's Diapepsin "really does" regulate weak, out-of-order stomachs that gives it its millions of sales annually.

Get a large fifty-cent box of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. It is the quickest, surest stomach relief and cure known. It acts almost like magic—it is a scientific, harmless and pleasant stomach preparation which truly belongs to every home.—(Adv.)

Helping Those Who Help Themselves

That is a function of the advertising printed in The Journal every day.

It helps those who want guidance in judicious buying. It is the story of the market place telling you what is best for your wants and where it is sold.

Frequently prices are presented in competition with each other, and Journal advertising readers are always posted as to where their money will do the best work.

It is as foolish to purchase without first seeing what Journal advertisements say at it would be to purchase without looking at the goods themselves.

Advertising does not compel you to buy anything. It merely posts you so that at all times you can purchase to your best advantage.

It is only by making the advertising pay you that the advertisers can hope to make it pay themselves.

Bring The Young Folk Tomorrow To The Junior Department (Third Floor)

Make it their day and have done with much of shopping that must be done for them at one time or another now.

The big reason is that things are so amply and satisfactorily ready. There is nothing to wait for.

A mother knows what that means—if she is seeking a suit for daughter here are the most attractive styles we could find; if she is seeking a dainty little party frock, here are the daintiest that specialists have evolved; if she is seeking a light weight coat she will find many novelties; if she is seeking a hat—and many mothers are—here is a display that will delight her; or, if she is seeking the little necessities of daughter's every day wardrobe, the simple wash dresses, the undermuslins and the like, every care, it would seem, has been centered on finding neatest styles and best values.

Look to the Junior Department as a helpful store and right now at its best.

Children's Wash Dresses She May Be Very Fastidious as to Her Hat

Sizes 6 to 14 years. Because we have been fastidious before her.

Even the plainest and simplest little bonnets look "fancy" as compared to those of former seasons.

But we do not mean to try to picture the many charming bits of children's millinery we have gathered.

The big crystal cases are filled. They look like a flower garden at one view, a rainbow of ribbons at another.

Shapes are indeed youthful and jaunty and chic—

"Like them? Indeed you will!" They are priced from $1.25 for a "rough wear" hat, to $20.00 for a beautiful "picture" hat.

With these are the new bonnets and caps, at 50c to $5.00, for tots.

Other Dresses $1.50 to $20

Little trouble to settle the dress question here, where there are so many to choose from—the fine French gowns, the lines, the madras, the linens, the crepes, the voiles, the nets and lingerie, the taffetas and crepes de chine. Each with its distinguishing mark.

$3.75 For Children's $6.50 White Serge Coats

An odd few to hurry away to new owners under the stimulus of a reduced price combined with a brisk March wind.

Sizes 2 to 6 years.

Little Norfolk styles, all white or white with black velvet collars and cuffs.

The new middies are ready at $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00

The well known "Paul Jones" and the "Jack Tar", with short sleeves, all white, white trimmed with red, navy and Copenhagen.

With these are the long sleeved navy and khaki middies for the young woman who will rough it this spring.

By eliminating every doubt as to the qualities at respective prices, we have made this the logical store for women to turn to for kid gloves.

The new spring stocks of these best kid gloves are ready: These are some of them:

At $1.00. The Solitaire, our famous two-clasp lambskin glove; black, white, buff, tan, cream, navy and slate.

At $1.50. The Navarre, the real kid skin glove, 2-clasps, black, white and colors.

At $1.50. Fownes' Phyllis, a P. K. sewn glove, black with white stitching, white with black stitching, very smart.

At $2.00. Fownes' La Tosca, a soft, flexible kid skin, black with white stitching, white with black stitching and buff with black or self stitching.

At $1.25, the new doeskin gloves that can be washed with soap and water; one-clasp.

At $1.50, a one-clasp doeskin glove with black or self stitching.

At $3.00 and $3.50. Trefousse twelve and sixteen button glaze kid gloves in black, white and colors; also at these prices are the twelve and sixteen button doeskin gloves.

Always a Novelty In The Neckwear

A woman will do well to turn to this Neckwear Section whenever she has the smallest need in this line—she is thus assured of a novelty.

New Gladstone collars of nets, laces and aéro cloth.

New guimpes with high necks, or low necks or with Medici ruffs; 50c to $3.50.

New crepe de chine bows, 25c to 50c.

New crepe de chine Windsor ties, 25c to 50c.

New lace, net and linen collar and cuff sets, $1.00 to $5.00.

New Sunshine collars of lace, nets, aéro cloths, white and cream, 50c to $3.00.

New Fichus and Medici collars, 50c to $5.00.

New ruffings of nets, laces and lawns, crepes de chine and chiffons, 25c to $1.50 a yd.

Handkerchiefs Priced

15c for "seconds" of women's 25c handkerchiefs, corner embroidery.

25c for "seconds" of women's 50c and 75c handkerchiefs, corner embroidery. The imperfections are hardly discernable.

PUT SOFT, SOFT PEDAL ON NOISE, SAYS VISITOR

Downtown Uprior Day and Night Is Like Riot, Declares New Yorker

John R. Clymer, a New York traveler man who has been visiting Atlanta for the past eleven years and who knows the city well from the viewpoint of the hotel dweller, says not only "about Atlanta" "clean up and paint up" for the Shriners, but the downtown noise and uproar should be held down to a minimum.

"Visitors notice that side of your city," said he, "You who live here and sleep in the suburbs or on semi-central residence streets, don't know anything about this, but visitors do, and they carry away with them an impression that Atlanta is one of the noisiest cities in the country."

"It is impossible for a visitor to get a full night's sleep on account of the distracting and useless noise honking and screeching and whistling and banging all through the night on the downtown streets. I feel that after eleven years I have never seen a city where the hotel dweller, but I haven't been induced even to sleep in a nearby hotel, and I could sleep in a nearby hotel and come into Atlanta to continue my business."

"First metropolitan noise comes to turn loose all the noise that anybody can make," he said, "and then the noise of the anti-noise crusades, have reduced unnecessary disturbances to a minimum. No automobile is allowed to use its horn except when that signal is necessary. I have seen a car honking for blocks along Atlanta's downtown streets. I have seen foot soldiers put their thumb on the electric screecher button and keep it there till the noise sounded like a riot or an alarm."

"Your motors add to the banishment, but they are by no means all there is of it."

"I take it your 'clean-up and paint-up' crusade has a permanent intent; that it is designed to make the city pleasant for visitors not only during Shriners' week, but during grand opera week that precedes the Shriners' coming by a week or two, and afterward as long as the interest of the citizens in the appearance of the building and homes can be kept up."

"The anti-noise crusade, with all its make it a permanent crusade, like the other. Visitors like a pretty city, and like a city where the noise is not too loud—and they like it very much indeed—a quiet city."

TO FORM METAL TRADE UNION IN CANAL ZONE

Mechanics Take Steps to Prevent Prospective Reduction of Wages in April

(By Associated Press.)
PANAMA, March 20.—A call has been issued to organized labor in the canal zone to meet on Sunday, April 1, for the purpose of forming a metal trade union to combat the proposed reduction in wages to become effective April 1. The meeting will be under the auspices of the metal trade union of the American Federation of Labor and the call urges all workers to refuse to accept any reduction, declaring that the union will not prevent continuation of the present scale of wages.

President Wilson's order with respect to organization of the permanent force to operate the canal provided only that pay on the isthmus should not exceed the wages paid for similar services in the United States by more than 25 per cent.

FAMOUS "IDENTIFIER" DIES IN SUBWAY TRAIN

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, March 20.—An elderly man, believed to be Percin H. Sumner, well known to the police as the "great American identifier," died of heart disease in a subway train late last night. Sumner won the title in the late nineties by identifying unclaimed bodies of suicides as a mythical Englishman named Edgar. Identification of the always proved false, and what he called a dead Englishman, who Sumner always remained a mystery. Sumner was involved in many other cases in this and other countries through his financial operations, and served a term in Sing Sing for larceny.

BANDELIER'S DEATH IS REPORTED IN MADRID

NEW YORK, March 20.—Announcement of the death of Madrid, yesterday, of Adolph Francis A. Bandelier, one of the foremost authorities on prehistoric life in the United States, was contained in a cable message made public today. He was seventy-four years old. Mr. Bandelier went to Spain last year for the historical society to examine into the ruins of that country.

MOTHER AND BABY BURN TO DEATH; FOUR RESCUED

(By Associated Press.)
ARDMORE, Okla., March 20.—Mrs. A. M. Dulaney, aged thirty, and her two-year-old daughter were burned to death at Ardmore, near here, early today, when their home was destroyed by fire. Dulaney succeeded in rescuing four other children, but her wife and baby were buried under the fallen timbers before she could reach them. The house was caused by the overturning of a lamp.

The Power of Prayer

This Powerful Drama Will Be Shown Saturday at the Savoy Theater—Read the Story First

She had promised to love, honor and obey, and the minister had joined their hands and made them one. Then they had taken from her the simple white uniform that she loved and garbed her in the frivolous robes of the idle rich. Irene Wallace, who before her marriage to Harold Brandon, the fly-by-night young millionaire, had been a Salvation Army lass, had been made a society girl, a trifling puppet of fashion.

But she loved her husband, and she honestly believed they would be happy in the mansion that was to be their home. And Harold was proud of his beautiful young wife and wished his friends to meet her. So he gave a very little party in her honor.

Mrs. Van Courtland, a superbly cooed young widow, engaged her in conversation. "Your home is just too lovely. But won't you have a pleasant evening with me, Mrs. Brandon?" she asked invitingly.

Mrs. Brandon shook her head in bewilderment. "I don't smoke—really! How funny!" And Mrs. Van Courtland looked at her with a faint smile. "I am a flatterer of amusement rippled over the face of the guests."

"Won't you have some wine then, please?" Mrs. Van Courtland's jeweled hand pushed forward a glass of sparkling liquid. But Mrs. Brandon waved it aside with a gesture of refusal. "I am tried in vain to conceal."

"You don't take wine either? Well, how strange! But you play cards, of course."

Mrs. Brandon was beginning to hate her tormentor. "I don't know one card game," she said. "I am a simpleton of the ingenuities. It was plain to the guests that she disapproved of the habits of her husband's set. She was a puzzle and what a pity that Harold, prince of good fellows, should have married her."

"You surprise me, Irene!" he sneered. "You know that my friends have no patience with these pitiful claims of the simpletons. I thought I would introduce to my friends, and here you have been humiliated me all evening."

"Their places crossed, a veritable comedy of errors, it is better that I have spoken to her impatiently since their marriage than ago, and some thing vital in her was stung. An angry retort trembled on her lips, but she checked it back. She realized she loved him passionately—the tender endearments of their honeymoon days tingled in her veins. She had been thirty by her fighting words and her strength, his mastery. Life would be well without him now, and her love welled up and became a burning current that swept her scruples before it. As time passed she began to acquire the frivolous habits of her husband's friends, but some of the old habits and sacrifices that made her education high stakes with the most daring, but secretly she rebelled against the prospect of a life of dissipation and she longed to hold her life according to the dictates of her heart. But how could she do it and still retain Harold's love?"

Slowly the idea dawned in her mind, a daring scheme through which she might lose all or win everything. "I will save my husband."

The following evening she attended a party at the home of Mrs. Van Courtland and engaged her hostess in a game of poker. At first, as through sheer perversity, the cards seemed determined to frustrate her plan. But at last she turned.

The guests grouped themselves about the two players and glanced covertly at each other as they watched Mrs. Brandon. Was she must they asked, risking half of her husband's fortune on one card? For five she held in her hand Mrs. Van Courtland, certain she would win. She played with her three aces and pair of kings, refused to call her bluff. At last Mrs. Brandon threw down her cards, and a murmur of surprise and consternation broke from the watchers as Mrs. Brandon landed right in her winnings. Brandon was watching with the grim abandon of a man determined to remain a thoroughbred to the last. Irene's face was calm and inscrutable.

Supper was announced, and while the guests sat down before a glittering array of cut glass and charming nappery, Harold remained in the deserted room. The hostess excused herself and went in search of him. She laid a dazzling white hand on his shoulder.

"I'll give it all back to you, my dear. The money, I mean—if you'll let me," Harold groaned. The loss he had incurred through his wife's mad playing meant more to him than he cared to acknowledge. Now he began to yield to the seductiveness of the temptress before him. They had been sweethearts once, and ever since his marriage Mrs. Van Courtland had pitted her practiced fingers against the innocent charms of Irene in a bold attempt to win him back.

Suddenly the door opened and Mrs. Brandon stepped into the room. The surprised pair sprang apart guiltily. Harold was still too angry with Irene to care to explain. While he looked at her with dumb wrath Mrs. Van Courtland smiled at him.

"Don't excite yourself, Mrs. Brandon," she said. "I have just heard that you are ill. I am so sorry. I was trying to soothe his nerves by rubbing his head."

Irene had seen too much to be deceived. At last she found her cue. "Do you think I am a fool, a simpleton?" she asked. "I have just heard that you are ill. I am so sorry. I was trying to soothe his nerves by rubbing his head."

"I wonder if you realize what you are doing?" she asked. "I wonder if you realize what you are doing?" she asked. "I wonder if you realize what you are doing?" she asked.

of "Vahelian" entered. He had been one of her husband's most intimate friends. With the quick perception of a woman, Irene knew he admired her in his own lifetime way. But she had never permitted his soft advances to overtake her.

"Mrs. Brandon," he began, twirling his mustache with elegantly maligned hands. "You have been in my thoughts ever since the day I first looked into those heavenly eyes of yours. Come see the ocean. We shall live in one of my castles. We shall be supremely happy. I am rich, and I can give you everything your heart desires. Quick, say you will be mine, my darling!"

Irene hurried from him in disgust. She had never liked his city manners and purr voice. Now she felt that she was penniless, he had deemed the time ripe, she thought hotly. And he did not mean to lose any time. She had listened in a dazed way, but as he attempted to kiss her she struck him in the face.

"I shall have you then whether you want me or not!" he cried, seizing her brutally. She struggled and gasped for breath. "Let her go, you cur!" Harold had sprung into the room. The duke's fingers loosened their grasp and he cowered like whipped dog before the enraged husband. "You coward! You coward!" he screamed, "You coward!"

Irene an important looking document. "Perhaps you remember Mr. Rogers, the old captain who became a drunkard?" he asked, and Irene remembered the triumph of her salvation Army career. "Well, you helped him on his feet again and he regained the fortune he had lost. Last year, I died, leaving it all to you."

Irene's mind reeled. Then she went to tell her husband. "And there is something else I must tell you, too," she whispered, winding her arms about his neck. "I lost that money to Mr. Van Courtland for no purpose. I knew poverty would bring out the best in you—pity and the power of prayer."

And there was a new man in him. He told her, "But Irene knew it was the change she had prayed for, hoped for, longed—sometimes despaired of achieving. It had come now—and the power of prayer had saved her."

They were seated at supper one evening. He had won! He folded her in his arms tenderly and her heart leaped

An Appeal to Reason

Who passes judgment for you on your political, civic and religious beliefs? Then, why not do your own investigating for yourself, and for the sake of yourself the part Bible plays in your physical makeup.

Every authority concedes that bile is the element that purifies and disinfects the food and food of the blood. Pure food for the blood means a healthy body. Pure food for the blood is impossible without a free flow of bile.

PoDoLax Releases the Bile
"DoLo" from PodoLax, meaning to release gently without the purging, cathartic action of other bile starters. PodoLax is the name.

SAYS HE WAS KEPT IN JAIL ILLEGALLY

W. Shumate, Accused of Non-Support of Wife, Brings Suit for His Release

Alleging that he was illegally detained in Fulton county jail, William Forrest Shumate, who was sentenced to pay a fine of $250 or serve twelve months in the kang by Judge Albert Calhoun, of the criminal court, for non-support of his wife and two little children, brought a writ of habeas corpus for his release before Judge Shumate, of the superior court, Thursday morning.

Shumate was brought back to Atlanta by a deputy sheriff from Mobile, Ala., on Saturday, March 7, charged with desertion and non-support of Mrs. May Fear Shumate, Lucy Frances, six years old, and Hallie Mabel, four years old, his children.

Shumate was faced on Monday, March 9, with a suit for divorce from his wife, in which she alleged that he was subject of habitual intoxication, had frequently deserted her, and that the last straw was when he shipped to Alabama with the two of them started in movie vaudeville together.

On Tuesday, March 10, Shumate was fined by Judge Reid in the city court, but gave bond of $100 when his case was continued by Albert Kemper, his attorney. Shumate stayed in jail, however, under a writ of non-exeat, which he'll either in jail or under $300 bond until March 21, when his divorce case is to be set.

Shumate could be found who would be his bondsmen. But, as the prisoner has no property, Kemper's lawyer, and in the writ of habeas corpus Thursday, his detention under the alimony bond was illegal.

It accordingly recalled the amount of the bond, $300, stand, but changed it to an appearance bond only, striking off the alimony clause. Shumate then, to the bond and was released from jail.

Mrs. May Fear Shumate, with her two tiny little girls and under $300 bond, her father, Henry J. Shumate, 29 Bedford place, treasurer of the Atlanta Casket company, appeared in Judge Reid's court at the hearing Thursday.

Seals and Perry Identified as Men Arrested in East Point Night of Robbery

Rexford P. Seals and A. O. Perry, two of the men arrested several nights ago with W. B. Gray on suspicion of the police that they have been operating as safe blowers, were identified at police headquarters Thursday morning by Tom Oliver, night watchman at the East Point yard of the Atlanta and West Point and the Central of Georgia railroads as the two men he arrested in the yards about two months ago, and who, while handcuffed together, beat him and took his revolver and cut key away from him and escaped.

He arrested them at Sumner, he said, the safe in the East Point depot was blown that night, he said.

Oliver said he knew nothing of Gray, Seals, who have been paying a house on Brooklyn street, was identified by a Decatur street pawnbroker Thursday as the man who pawned with him the revolver that since has been identified as one of the two belonging to John Nolan. Nolan is the man who was convicted the other day at Marietta as the man who held up a passenger train near Bolton some weeks ago.

A GOLDEN WEDDING GROUP

Last Sunday, March 15, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Young, of Shalysville, Ky., had been married fifty years, and Mr. Young was seventy-five years old that day. The bride and groom of half a century ago spent the anniversary in Atlanta, at the home of their sons, V. D. Young, and Fullam street. The picture shows them in the background of the family group, with their three sons, V. D. Young, W. E. Young, and G. F. Young, their daughter-in-law, and their grandchildren.

THEATERS

Criticism of initial performance at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is supplied by the theater management.

Directly responsive to the hit that the critics of this week's Forsyth bill registered Monday, attendance records for a week at this particular season are being established at the busy theater. There have been no vacant seats at any performance, and in some instances it has been necessary to turn away enough people to fill the theater once again.

The bill is of quality. There are headline features that are of the best sort and there are other acts that are always at home in the high grade vaudeville theaters of the country. A great interest has been manifested in the appearance of William A. Brady's company of eight actresses playing "Beauty Is Only Skin Deep," a delightful satire on the beauty parlor. The players are capable and the stage setting is a perfect reproduction of the modern beauty parlor.

Profound, the acrobatic, eclipses the hits he has made on former visits. His work is artistic and popular. His character demand the most strenuous attention and his routine gets every foot tapping. Little Clio and Mary Marble will hearline the bill the coming week. These two former stars of the Bijou Musical comedy company are supported by John W. Danne & Co., in a Dutch scene taken from the future books. The sketch is alive with gaudy scenes and of course there is to be dancing, too. The Forsyth could not offer a more popular card. A special feature will be motion pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle performing their famous dances at the Sans Souci restaurant in New York City. It is impossible to secure the services of these wonderful people to the Forsyth has done the next best thing in securing a motion picture of the dancing duo. There will be other features that will make a standard Forsyth offering.

The Atlanta will offer Neil O'Brien and his famous American minstrel on Monday and Tuesday with a Tuesday matinee. The O'Brien minstrels this season are all new and the production is one of the biggest ever sent on the Atlanta stage. The minstrel show is a face as seen in the shining and dancing corps of a number of old-time favorites are in the crowd.

Saturday morning at 9 o'clock seats will be placed on sale at the Atlanta theaters and the fact that more than 1,000 persons were turned away from the Friday night performance. The Atlanta will come back for Wednesday and Thursday with a matinee Thursday and brings the same stars.

FAIR TO COMMEMORATE NEW EMPEROR'S REIGN

ATLANTA RANKS HIGH IN EDUCATION AND INDUSTRY

Sage Report Shows This City Well in the Foreground Among Others Studied

The Russell Sage Foundation has given out a report in New York which includes interesting figures and facts in regard to Atlanta's educational system and industries.

Among 18 cities studied, Atlanta is ranked 13 in regard to its success in carrying children forward through the grammar grades after they reach the age when the law permits them to quit school and go to work, and the city takes forty-third place with respect to the proportion of fathers born in the city where their children go to school, and thirty-third with respect to the proportion of boys born in the city where they receive their schooling.

During the past year the Russell Sage Foundation made a comparative study of conditions in the 18 cities mentioned in the report with the object of securing a more adequate fact basis for dealing with the problem of industrial education in American municipalities. The survey took into consideration the progress made in ordinary school work by children before they are old enough to take up trade or vocational courses; the fluctuating school population; and the industries and occupations of fathers whose children are in school.

The report presents detailed and considers its bearing on problems of industrial education.

Rev. Fred A. Line will discuss the Frank case at the morning service at 11 o'clock at the Universalist church, 16 East Harris street, next Sunday, March 22. His subject will be "Vital Aspects of the Frank Case."

In the evening Mrs. McLendon, state president of the Equal Suffrage association, and Leonard Grossman will give short addresses on "Equal Suffrage, a Moral Issue."

CENSUS BUREAU REPORTS 14,127,356 BALES GINNED

These Companies With 1916, 421 Bales Last Year and Does Not Include Linters

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The 1913 cotton crop was the most valuable ever grown in the largest cotton producing States, statistics announced by the bureau of census to the effect that the crop amounted to 10,000,000 pounds, or 14,767,151 bales of lint and water cotton. The total value of the crop, including the cost of production, was estimated at $1,000,000,000 compared with $620,000,000 last year and $600,000,000 during the previous most valuable crop that of 1910.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—One of the largest cotton crops ever grown, amounting to 14,767,151 bales of lint and water cotton, valued at $1,000,000,000, was produced by the farmers of the United States during the 1913 season, according to

These figures compare with 13,703,421 equivalent 500-pound bales of lint and 509,594 bales of linters last year, and 15,062,701 bales of lint and 541,161 bales of linters in 1952.

The department of agriculture's estimate, announced December 12, placed the 1953 crop at 13,677,000 equivalent 500-pound bales.

With the new method of reporting lint and linters, the department departs from its previous method of reporting cotton crop by not including the quantity of linters in the total production. Director William H. Cline said the change was done because of the installation of machinery for cleaning and delinting of seed. Had largely increased the quantity of linters and at the same time lowered

The number of running bales of lint cotton coming round at half bales, was 3,564,981, or 10.3 per cent. more than in 1910, compared with 12,488,530 running bales of lint and 952,234 running bales of lintless last year, and 15,555,973 running bales of lint and 856,276 running bales of lintless in 1910.

Included in the production for 1912 are 29,267 bales which ginners estimated would be turned out after the time of the March canvass.

Running bales included numbered 99,916, compared with 81,528 last year and 161,554 in 1910. Seed cotton and bales included numbered 1,000, compared with 73,777 last year and 119,293 in 1910. The average gross weight of bale for last year was 48.5 lbs.

Production of states in equivalent 500-pound bales, exclusive of linters, with comarison and the Department of Agriculture's December estimate, exclusive of linters.

Alabama: Total production, 1,494,667 bales, compared with 1,342,275 in 1912 and 1,716,561 in 1911. Department of agriculture estimated 1,536,000 bales for 1913.

Arkansas: Total production, 1,071,359 bales, compared with 792,048 in 1912 and 699,392 in 1911. Department of agriculture estimated 1,000,000 bales for 1913.

Florida: Total production, 58,451 bales, com-

Georgia: Total production, 2,314,876 bales, compared with 1,776,546 in 1912 and 2,768,627 in 1911. Department of agriculture estimated 2,314,876 bales for 1913.

Louisiana: Total production, 442,122 bales, compared with 376,090 in 1912, and 284,597 in 1911. Department of agriculture estimated 442,122 bales for 1913.

WIFE SAYS HER HUSBAND HIT MAN WITHOUT CAUSE

L. R. Williams' Charge That W. Y. Carter Insulted Woman Is Not Supported

L. R. Williams, 214 East Georgia avenue, was fined $5 and costs by Recorder Broyles Friday morning for a fight he had earlier in the morning with W. Y. Carter, a mechanic of the southern Automobile and Equipment company. Williams contended Carter insulted Mrs. Williams, but Carter denied it. Mrs. Williams would not support the assertion of her husband in court. She declared Carter was not to blame.

Williams said he and his wife were passing 50 South Forsyth street Friday morning about 1 o'clock when Carter, who works there, looked at Mrs. Williams in such a manner that Williams took offense. He challenged Carter, whereupon Carter struck him. Police officers who arrested both say Carter got the decision in the scrap.

Carter said he was wiping his hands at them, he said. The next he knew Williams was confronting him with the charge of insult.

DATE FOR HOLDING COURT IN GAINESVILLE POSTPONED

Announcement was made Friday morning that the session of the United States district court in Gainesville, Ga., set to begin April 27, has been postponed until May 11. At that time Judge William T. Newman will adjourn court in Atlanta to preside over cases pending in the northeastern district.

FOILS KIDNAPERS' PLANS TO PREVENT WEDDING

Brought Here In Automobile, Bridegroom Phones for Girl and Gets Married

Scenario writers have a ready-made plot for a sensational "movie" drama in the wedding of Miss Lois Cannon to Robert H. Jackson here Thursday night, following a kidnapping, a wild auto ride through the country and a long distance telephone communication between Jackson, in Atlanta, and his fiancée in Cuthbert, Ga.

In this case it was the bridegroom who was kidnapped. When Jackson announced his intended marriage to Miss Lois Cannon, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Martin, of Cuthbert, Thursday night his friends planned a practical joke.

So Thursday afternoon Jackson's life touring car and then made high speed for Atlanta, threatening to ditch the would-be bridegroom if he made objection.

On their arrival in Atlanta Jackson found a long distance phone and notified Miss Cannon in Cuthbert of his predicament.

A few hours later Jackson approached Boyd.

"I want to meet a friend at the Terminal station," he said. "Will you drive me over?"

The "friend" turned out to be Miss Cannon, so Boyd acknowledged that he had been beaten at his own game and the three of them went to the home of Rev. C. W. Daniels, 37 East Fourteenth street, where Miss Cannon became the bride of Mr. Jackson.

Friday young couple were at the Hotel Ansley.

ALLEGED WHITE SLAVER IS SEEKING NEW TRIAL

Motion in Behalf of Sam A. Stoe Will Be Argued Before Judge Newman

The motion for a new trial for Sam A. Stoe, convicted for a violation of the Mann act during the January term, will be argued before Judge Newman, of the United States court for the northern district of Georgia, Saturday morning. A feature of the appeal will be an affidavit for the defense, secured from the sister of Mrs. Annie Bond, who was the principal witness for the prosecution. Another ground will be that Mrs. Bond contradicted herself in her testimony.

Judge Newman had not passed sentence on Mrs. Stoe, who was jointly indicted with her husband for white slavery by a federal grand jury and later convicted in the same court that sentenced her husband to five years in the United States penitentiary.

It is understood Mrs. Stoe's attorneys will also move for a new trial, and for that reason sentence is being indefinitely suspended.

Charming Ribbons

A Riot of Colors & Designs That Span the Earth & the Ages

Every change of fashion is reflected in ribbons. The Oriental, Egyptian and Chinese tendencies are portrayed in the quaint flowers and colorings. The Empire ribbons shown in wonderful tapestry designs; the 1830 Period by charming Dresden. As for the plaids, Persian, Roman stripes, they are always shown though seemingly prettier this spring than ever before.

The assortment is especially noteworthy in clove or ribbons for sashes and hat ribbons. 4-1/2 to 12 inches wide. 25c to $1.75.

First Time We've Ever Had So Many Clever Shirts & Blouses at $1 & $1.50

WE'VE made a new alliance with a creator of clever waists. The man is a genius. Not only does he design smart styles; he also has the facilities for reproducing them in quantities at slight expense. We control his product for Atlanta—unmatchable shirts and blouses at $1 and $1.50. About a score of charming styles in all.

Blouses at $1 include

—an all-over embroidered voile with entredaux work at shoulder, lace trimmed.

—A striped crepe with raglan shoulder and crocheted buttons

—a mercurized striped crepe with flat collar, guage shoulder, entredaux work, lace fringe, voile with embroidered trim around neck and front.

Semi-Mannish Shirts $1

—These combine the comfort of the coat shirt with the grace and the femininity of the blouse.

—Included are crepes, embroidered, laces and linens. Some have the flat collar with "front at neck; others have the Mandet or Escroval collars.

A Spring Shower of Neckwear

Refreshing Neckfixings That Merit The Admiration They are Attracting

—Though we show pictures and list prices of some of the popular neckfixings, they are cold and inanimate—this neckwear must be seen. Only as one tries on a new piece of neckwear, does its full beauty become individualized.

—Normandy rolls as pictured are in high favor. Made of sheer organdie, often developed with shadow laces, 25c to $1.50.

—Gladstone Pichus are of plain nets, shadow laces and sheer lawns. White, ecru and colors 50c to $5.

—Novelty Neckwear—This includes organdies in white that are embroidered in colors; choice crepe de chine effects; exquisite shadow laces and nets 25c to $10.

A Sea of New Pleatings 25c

—Miles and miles of new pleatings, like whitecaps, or the surf of the sea. Plain nets, shadow laces and chiffons, 1 to 3 inches wide. Besides the white, we have cream, ecru and black. (Neckwear, Main Floor, Right.)

See This Silk Stocking at 75c

—Women who have been accustomed to buying boot silk stockings at 50c will get two or three times the wear out of this Wayne Knit stocking at 75c. Women who have been paying $1 for their silk stockings should see this Wayne Knit at 75c.

The Wayne Knit is made of the same pure thread silk that goes into standard $1 stockings. It likewise has a high spliced silk heel and is full fashioned and finely finished. It is 75c instead of $1 because the makers use a deeper lace garter top. While not a boot silk hose, the top is deeper than in the usual $1 stocking. Lisle feet. Black or white 75c.

Our Guaranteed Stockings 25c, 35c, 50c

The guarantee is scarcely needed—we seldom have to "make good" any stocking. But should we, a new pair of stockings is yours the moment you say the word. The stockings are splendidly made and finished. They consist of—

Glorietta Lisle 25c Lisle 35c Lisle 50c

The 35c and 50c stockings are full fashioned. Black, white or tan at each (Hosiery, Main Floor, Right.)

A Certain Dash About Milady's Beauty Veil

—Makes it most becoming. One is captivated with the new bridge veils—an acc of clubs, spades, diamonds or hearts poised on a fancy mesh. Equally beguiling are the BEAUTY spots—sprays of self or contrasting color on black or colors. The latterly color gowns and fasci-nates—it masks demure eyes that charm with coy glances. By reason of the buyer's recent New York trip, the veiling stock is unusually complete in freshness of varieties and richness of assortment. 35c to $1.25.

Carter's Spring Needle Union Suits at $1

Garments woven by the Spring Needle process are wonderfully clean and shape retaining. Carter's garments in addition to being woven of un-fussy fine yarns, are perfectly cut and fashioned and neatly trimmed. The $1 union suit that we feature Saturday is low neck and sleeveless with choice of tight, loose or shell neck.

(Main Floor, Right.)

The Chosen Hat for Spring

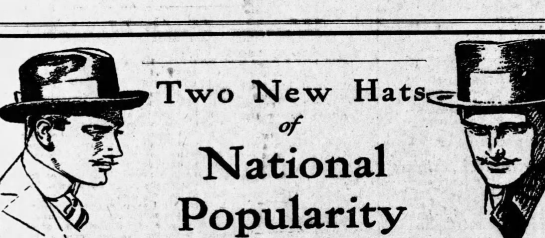

When we opened the Spring style box, the hat sketched here was one of the first and best impressions we received. Every reason why is "en evidence" in the hat shown in the sketch. The quick, soft roll of the brim, the plain, yet soft diamond telescoped crown, the broad ribbon band with flowing bow on the three-quarter.

There is yet the soft and strikingly handsome colors and the extremely fine quality to be told of out of the picture.

Watch our hat window. $3 to $5

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORPSON W. E. J. 1914.

No sooner had Winsome Bluebird finished telling how Ol' Mistah Buzard was on the thicket, than the houses in the far away south than Peter Rabbit was full of questions about other friends who had been spending the long winter in the land of sunning.

"Where is Little Friend the Song Sparrow?" he asked eagerly.

"Little Friend of mine is not very far away," he replied. "In fact, I think he will be here in a few days. Peter, Little Friend loves the Green Meadows and the Smiling Pool so much that he cannot bear to go any further away than he has to. I guess he feels just as I do. And so he doesn't go away, down south as some do, but just stays where he is comfortable and happy."

"My, but I'll be glad to hear him again," said Peter with a sigh. "Somehow I always feel better when I hear the voice of Little Friend. I hope nothing will happen to him on the way."

"Oh, I guess not," replied Winsome Bluebird. "You see, everybody loves him so that nobody wants to harm him. He hasn't any beautiful suit, like you just the plainest little fellow. I guess he's just loved because—why—because he's always so cheery and lovable."

"Yes," said Peter, "I guess that's the reason. It must be beautiful to see the little bird, like that. I suppose you've seen Cheerful Robin this winter."

"Oh, my, yes," replied Winsome Bluebird. "He's a very pretty fellow. I have been together a great deal this winter. He's coming right along, and if I don't watch out and get about my business, Mistress Spring will be making him her herald instead of me. He looks just as fine as ever, and he really is very well and in splendid spirits, considering the hard time he has had ever since he left here."

"What do you mean? Doesn't Cheerful find enough to eat down south?" demanded Peter, pricking up his long ears.

"Plenty, plenty," replied Winsome Bluebird. "It's the people that are fond of him down there. Men and boys are used to watching out all the time for the dreadful time. I wish he had come along with me. I won't feel quite easy until I see him. Don't you think you are dreadful things, Peter Rabbit?"

"Yes, indeed," the most dreadful thing in all the world, replied Peter promptly. "But I didn't suppose that Cheerful Robin ever had anything to fear from them. I don't see what he goes down south for, if that is the way they treat him."

"He has to get enough to eat," replied Winsome Bluebird. "Just as I do. If it wasn't for that we wouldn't stir of us go, because you know we love the Green Meadows and the Smiling Pool and the Old Orchard so. Now, I have sat here gossiping with you just as long as I can. I must be going. The glad news that Mistress Spring is coming."

"I'll help you," said Peter happily, and made ready to start right away for the Green Forest.

CHEERFUL ROBIN.

There's No Such Thing As Team Work Among Clocks in Postoffice

Wives who have husbands working in the Atlanta postoffice building must never hold them for being late to dinner. This is a rule. You would see its justice if you ever took a stroll through the postoffice and glanced at the clocks.

They are pneumatic clocks and connect with a master clock on the first floor. At 10:15 o'clock by the master clock downstairs, the way the others looked by actual comparison, were: Secret service clock, 10:10; Civil service secretary clock, 10:02; United States district court clock, 10:20; Internal revenue collector clock, 9:54; United States commissioner clock, 10:15; Railway mail service clock, 10:20; Attorney general clock, 10:15.

New York claims the distinction of having thirteen perfect telephone girls. They have passed the civil service examinations giving them right to this prerogative title.

What Anne Rittenhouse Says

PARIS.—The long tunic is interesting—What does it mean?

It is graceful in itself—far more graceful, without doubt, than the miniature tunic of the wide-puffed panier. It gives length and dignity to the figure and probably, just from the point of pointuality, it would win out in a competition with the skirt of crinoline and many ruffles and the skirt with wide-puffed paniers.

But, strange as it may seem, the skirt and the long tunic, both point to the coming of the shorter skirt. This shorter skirt will be fuller, too.

Among the models shown by Taughi the skirts, although they followed the lines of the figure, were really wide at the bottom. They had the appearance of narrowness, but they made walking and dancing easy. Many of the designers still cling to the skirt that is really narrow at the bottom.

But still there is a tendency to a shorter, wider skirt. Sometimes it is the crinoline that suggests, sometimes the long, full tunic. Sometimes, of course, it is not suggested at all.

The crinoline is interesting. Call it what you will. One interesting model shown by this house was made with a hoop-like skirt of many tresses of black and red tulle and with it was worn a white lace surplice. Could anything be more reminiscent of the days of our grandmothers?

These skirts of crinolines, of course, are always short.

Striped silks are widely used for afternoon frocks. They are almost always combined with a plain fabric. Such a combination brings out the best points in both materials.

In the frock in the sketch, striped silk brocade and deep violet, with a line of yellow, forms the long, full tunic. The rest of the gown is made of brown silk. The long sleeves and the odd little revers on the bodies are edged with ostrich, and the finishing touch to the whole frock is an ostrich collar.

The long sleeve is perhaps most used for afternoon frocks, although the sleeve-length sleeve has by no means disappeared.

And now Brooklyn women want women's frocks.
